MacArthur Denies Policies Too Soft

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (AP)—There will be no "kid glove" enforcement of surrender terms on Japan, Gen. MacArthur promised today in a statement replying to critics. Simultaneously he ordered complete suspension of activities of Domie News Agency, heretofore Japan's greatest propaganda outlet.

Suspension of the agency came without explanation.

Domei has served approximately 65 papers in Japan.

MacArthur noted impatience displayed by critics at the so-called "soft" policy. He termed it necessary, however.

Meanwhile, the Jap government reported to Eighth Army headquarters most of the former Nipponese leaders on MacArthur's "wanted" list were in custody.

(Merrill Mueller, NBC correspondent in Tokyo, reported Jap police were holding seven members of Japan's Pearl Harbor cabinet and would turn them over to American authorities Saturday, Japanese time or Friday, U. S. time.)

Another former government official, Lt. Gen. Chikahiko Koizumi, welfare minister in the "Pearl Harbor cabinet" and on the list of 40 war criminals, took his life by the traditional hara-kiri method. The condition of his former premier, Gen. Hideki Tojo, continued to improve in a U. S. hospital.

Koizumi, 61, former surgeon general of the Jap army and a bachelor, lived in the Yodobashi district of northwest Tokyo with an elder brother, two nephews and a sister.

Some time after the rest of the household retired, he rose, dressed in a ceremonial kimono and lighted candles at each side of his Buddhist shrine.

Kneeling before the shrine, he slashed open his stomach with a short sword, cut the jugular vein and died almost instantly.

Ceremonial self-destruction of another Jap militarist, Gen. Teiichi Yoshimoto—not on MacArthur's list—was reported. He slashed his stomach in hara-kiri fashion with a sword and fired a pistol shot into his head.

Kinihiko Hashida, Japanese minister of education in the Tojo cabinet and seventh on Gen. MacArthur's list, was reported seriously ill after taking poison.

Text of Statement

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (AP)—Text of Gen. MacArthur's statement today on occupation procedure:

I have noticed some impatience in the press based upon the assumption of a so-called soft policy in Japan. This can only arise from an erroneous concept of what is occurring.

The first phase of the occupation must of necessity be based on military considerations which involved the deployment forward of our troops and the disarming and demobilization of the enemy. This is coupled with the paramount consideration of withdrawing our former prisoners of war and internees from internment camps and evacuating them to their homes.

Safety and security require that all of the steps shall proceed with precision and completeness, lest calamity may be precipitated.

The military phase is proceeding in an entirely satisfactory way.

Over half of the enemy's force in Japan proper is now demobilized and the entire program will be practically complete by the middle of October. During this interval of time, safety and complete security must be assured.

When the first phase is completed, other phases as provided in the surrender terms will infallibly follow. No one need have any doubt about prompt, complete, entire fulfillment of the terms of surrender. The process, however, takes time.

It is well understandable that in the face of atrocities committed by the enemy there should be impatience. This natural impulse, however, should be tempered with the fact that security and military expediency still require an exercise of some restraint. The surrender terms aren't soft and they won't be applied in kid glove fashion.

Economically and industrially as well as militarily, Japan is completely exhausted and depleted. She is in a condition of utter collapse. Her governmental structure is controlled completely by occupation forces and is operating only to the extent necessary to insure such an orderly and controlled procedure as will prevent social chaos, disease and starvation.

The over-all objectives for Japan have been clearly outlined in the surrender terms and will be accomplished in an orderly, concise and comprehensive way without delays beyond those imposed by the magnitude of the physical problems involved.

It is extraordinarily difficult for me at times to exercise that degree of patience which is unquestionably demanded if the long-time policies which have been decreed are to be successfully accomplished without repercussions which would be detrimental to the well-being of the world, but I am restraining myself to the best of my ability and am generally satisfied with the progress being made.

Starve--and Dream

YOKOSUKA NAVAL BASE, Japan (AP)—Thoughts of food filled the mind of Oscar, poet laureate and historian of Camp Ashiro, during most of his waking hours. And it was the same with fellow Marine prisoners.

They, too, were hungry all the time and they liked most to think of food. Oscar went farther. He wrote down his thoughts on food in his small handmade memory book.

Once Oscar spent an entire day writing what he regarded as the perfect menu. It is an amazing menu consisting of six meals between 6 a. m. and midnight, and each meal was put down in loving detail. I think his menu is worth presenting in full—although it obviously would put Oscar in a hospital if he tried to eat his way through it.

Loosen your belts folks, here comes the platter:

6 a. m.—Nonalcoholic eggnog, fruit cocktail, hot cakes with whiped cream or marshmallow syrup and fig Newtons with sweet butter.

9 a. m—Cream of wheat, hot milk chocolate, oatmeal, cookies, ham and cheese omelet with catsup, hot biscuits with sweet butter and honey, hot cakes with maple syrup, coffee with Bismarck herring and coffee rolls.

Noon—Navy bean soup with oyster crackers, coffee, bread and butter, chicken and dumplings with sage dressing and giblet gravy, mashed potatoes, stewed corn, lima beans, tapioca lemon pudding.

4 p. m.—Orange pekoe tea with assorted cookies, assorted sandwiches, potato salad, chocolate eclairs and fudge.

8 p. m.—Grape juice, cream of tomato soup with soda crackers, fruit salad with whipped cream, macaroons, coffee with bread and butter, stuffeed pork chops with oyster dressing and gravy, fried potatoes, blackeyed peas, stewed tomatoes, Italian grape wine, apple pie and vanilla ice cream.

Midnight—Chili con carne with crackers, hamburgers with onions and shoestring potatoes, some beer with pretzels and some nice fried apples with cream to make you sleep well.

Truman Asks 17 Billions Navy Cut

He also recommended Congress consider "a complete review of existing legislation authorizing construction of naval vessels."

Jap Premier Says:

LET'S FORGET PEARL HARBOR

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (AP)—Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni today called upon the people of America to forget Pearl Harbor as Japan builds "a completely new, peaceful" nation. He made his plea in an exclusive statement to the Associated Press.

"America has won and Japan has lost," the premier wrote in answer to a letter from the Associated Press. "The war is ended. Let us now bury hate. This has been my policy since organization of the present cabinet.

"People of America—won't you forget Pearl Harbor? We Japanese people will forget the picture of devastation wrought by the atomic bomb and will start entirely anew as a peace-loving nation."

The premier, whose entire public life heretofore has been spent in the army, promised that "the Japanese people will for the first time enjoy freedom from oppression by the militarist clique" as freedom of speech and of the press are gradually extended.

Higashi-Kuni sketched a long and difficult period ahead in building a "new Japan." He listed these major immediate problems:

"First, how to carry out faithfully the provisions of the Potsdam declaration in orderly and systematic fashion while maintaining general order and not throwing the country into confusion.

"Second, food, clothing and shelter for the people.

"Third, unemployment, which will total an estimated 15,000,000 persons."

Higashi-Kuni said "mere recovery or reconstruction" of Japan was insufficient, asserting "we intend to build a completely new and peaceful Japan; we intend to build a country of high moral principles and culture. I think it will require years for us to complete the task.

"It is my firm belief that a new Japan, progressive and just, will be born as a result of these conflicts."

Higashi-Kuni said it was his personal opinion the start of the Superfortress raids marked the turning point in the war.

Asked what he considered the causes of Japan's defeat, the premier wrote:

"The first was because morality has lost its hold in Japan. We can say one reason for our tragedy was that no great statesman appeared in Japan. We can also count as one reason lack of courage on the part of the Japanese people to defend justice, so they were unable to correct the mistaken guidance of militarists and bureaucrats.

"Then, also, our army leaders miscalculated the actual strength of the United States.

"But the question boils down to this: Looking at it from all angles, Japan fought so she could not but lose and America fought so she could not but win."

Kid Glove Rule Angers PWS

By FRED HAMPSON

MANILA, Sept. 14 (AP)—Allied liberees funneling through Manila en route home are variously baffled, disappointed and indignant over what they describe as "kid glove" treatment of the Japanese. In 10 days I have visited 2300 of them on ships and docks and in replacement centers, hospitals and officers' quarters. Some openly are critical of early occupation policies, particularly enlisted men and civilians. Officers are more cautious. But all warn that many Japs do not realize they were defeated and view the peace as a temporary recess ordered by the Emperor.

It is understandable that these, of all people, should resent soft treatment of the suddenly pacific Japs. They were sick, starved and beaten. Brutality, torture, humiliation and hunger have been their lot. They saw friends killed or die by inches. They don't think the Japs are getting what's coming to them.

One enlisted man at a replacement depot grudgingly read a Domei dispatch and growled: "What the hell's going on up in Tokyo? Who won this war, anyway?"

Here are some statements culled from 10 days of interviewing prisoners of war and internees:

"I'm still sorry we didn't invade. An invasion would make them remember they were licked."

"It's all very well to arrest high war criminals, but what about those prison camp guards?"

(MacArthur's headquarters has ordered the arrest of some camp guards; said it would go after every one accused by liberees.)

"Let's call in that admiral who was going to kick them in the teeth. We can ease up on them later."

"Put me in charge of some Jap prisoners! I'd convince them they were licked. They showed me how to teach that lesson!"

"They gave 100 of us enough medicine for 20 and diluted it with water, at that. What are we going to give them?"

"In Formosa, they still think they've won."

"They starved us because they said the Dutch fed stones to Jap prisoners in 1942. Give me some Jap prisoners now, I'd feed them stones!"

"We had a hell of a time convincing them the war was over."

Girls Rout Strangle Thief, Save Victim

Sneak thieves who tried to strangle Mrs. Alsace Blake, 35-year-old wife of a soldier, through an open window while she was asleep in a first floor bedroom with her three children in their Logan st., Roxbury, home were routed early today by two plucky teen-age girls.

Marie Collins, 16, and her sister Winifred, 13, were staying overnight at the Blake home. Aroused by Mrs. Blake's muffled scream, the girls peered into the bedroom. They saw a man's hands, stretching through the raised screen, grasped around Mrs. Blake's throat.

Instead of rushing into the bedroom, the girls tiptoed to the front door, ran into the street, and screamed.

Two men, whom they described as about 25 years old, rushed around the side of the house and up over a ledge. Although the rocks cut their bare feet, the girls bravely chased the fleeing pair and hurled stones at them.

One of the men was carrying Mrs. Blake's pocketbook, stolen through the window from the top of her bureau. It contained $16, an allotment check for $94 and ration books.

The frightened thieves eluded their young pursuers, but the screams of the Collins girls, next-door neighbors of the Blakes, had awakened other residents, who telephoned police.

When cruiser cars arrived from the Dudley st. station, police found all lights on in the Blake home. Mrs. Blake, who had lost consciousness when the hands grabbed her neck, was being cared for by Winifred Collins.

Marie was quieting the Collins children, Juliana, 8, Mary Frances, 4, and Lorraine, 1½, who had slept through the excitement but were now thoroughly upset.

Mrs. Blake told police she couldn't remember whether she fainted from fright or had been choked unconscious. She said this was the third time within two years that her home had been victimized by night thieves, but the first time she had ever been attacked by the intruders.

As a precaution against breaks, she added, she had placed safety catches which prevented the window from being opened more than six inches. It was through this space that one of the burglars grabbed her while she slept.

Mrs. Blake said she was unable to offer any resistance because her hands were under the blankets and she could make no outcry other than the muffled sound which the Collins girls heard.

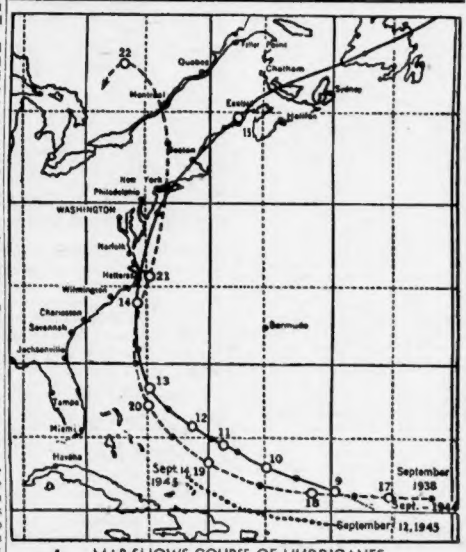
150 M. P. H. Hurricane Hits Isle, Heads for Florida



MAP SHOWS COURSE OF HURRICANES

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 14 (AP)—Winds estimated at 150 m. p. h. were reported to have struck Turk's island in the British West Indies today as a great hurricane whirled toward the Florida coast.

The weather bureau observer at Turk's island said the center of the hurricane blasted the island about 2:30 a. m. today with 150 m.p.h. winds at its height.

The Turk's island station had previously been off the air for nearly 11 hours before re-establishing communication with the U. S. weather bureau in Miami.

At 2 p. m. it was estimated the storm was about 500 miles southeast of Miami.

As the storm approached, all Army Transport Command planes sped away from Miami airfields to safer zones in Alabama and Tennessee. Navy planes had already left.

In addition, the ATC ordered all troops to be ready for evacuation to safer quarters by noon tomorrow.

At its present rate of movemetn, averaging 17 m. p. h., the storm may be expected to strike the Florida coast about 7 p. m. Saturday.

Nearly 1000 troops in the Miami area were set to work this morning clearing away debris, signs and other loose objects which might be swept away and transformed into death-dealing missles.

Over 120 tents in the ATC's "green city," where aerial returnees from Europe's battlefields awaited redistribution in Miami, were taken down, and wooden frames were anchored securely.

Field kitchens were made ready for a possible emergency, and the

Tobin Acts to Save Nurseries

Fighting to have 53 wartime child care centers in Massachusetts continued until the children's fathers return from overseas, veteran and social welfare organizations joined Gov. Tobin in an appeal to Congress to extend the federal program beyond the Sept. 30 deadline.

Gov. Tobin, in telegrams to all Massachusetts delegates in Congress, urged they do their utmost to save the system which has provided nurseries for more than 3000 children while their patriotic mothers worked in shipyards or war plants.

"The purpose for which these nurseries were established has not ended with the winning of the war," the Governor declared.

"Some women must work to supplement their husband's allotments and their children should be cared for while they are at work. Until the breadwinners return from their posts of duty, these mothers and their children need the nurseries."

John J. Lydon, former Boston Soldiers' Relief commissioner, was spokesman for a delegation which met with the Governor to prepare a campaign to save the nurseries. He said the centers were situated in 13 cities and each cared for an average of 60 children.

Under the Lanham Act establishing the nurseries, the federal government pays 60 per cent of the operating costs. The remaining 40 per cent is paid by local charitable organizations such as the United War Fund.

Parents anxious to have the centers continued will meet Tuesday evening at White Fund Building, Dorchester ave. and Fourth st., South Boston, to consider plans to have the federal government retain the program.

A meeting of social service representatives will be held Thursday at 40 Mt. Vernon st., Beacon Hill.

Court Hears Suit Over Burial Ban In Belmont Lot

Belmont's action in refusing to allow the burial of a nonresident woman in a town cemetery owned by her resident sister-in-law was briefly castigated—and defended—in Middlesex Superior Court today as the lot owner, Mrs. Laura F. Lalley, sought legal means to overthrow the ruling.

Mrs. Lalley appeared before Judge Good in an equity suit asking that the town and its cemetery commissioners be enjoined from interfering with the burial of Miss Lucy E. Lalley, 54, of Allston.

Atty. David Burstein, counsel for Mrs. Lalley, told the court the cemetery commissioners had acted "callously" when they interferred with the burial.

He said he knew of no State law which forbade the burial of a non-resident in a town cemetery and that if the town of Belmont had such a regulation it had been "broken frequently in the past."

Amos L. Taylor, town counsel, testified the town was just as interested as Mrs. Lalley in having a court ruling on the nonresident issue. He said Belmont is so pressed for burial space it is even trying to obtain some outside the limits of the township.

"For the sake of decency I think we all want it settled quickly," said Judge Good. He continued it until Wednesday and directed both sides to complete the filing of all papers by Monday.

Freed, the skunk showed the utmost consideration for all concerned and loped away.

Blind Girl, Dog Head For Overseas Bridal

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—Blind Miss Mary Mansfield, 33, of Colorado Springs, and her Seeing Eye dog, Arta, will embark for England tomorrow on the second lap of her romantic journey to marry a blind Britisher, Harry C. Marsom, inspector in an electric plant at Luton, Bedfordshire.

The blonde and five-foot-one Miss Mansfield said, "We've written so long and so much we feel we know each other very well."

The blind couple became acquainted 10 years ago when Miss Mansfield was editing a Braille magazine and Marsom became a contributor. Recently they exchanged voice records. She laughed today as she said he had used much of his record to discuss the weather. His letters, she indicated, were more satisfactory.

For a time there was some question whether England's rigid restrictions concerning admission of dogs would prevent her from taking her Seeing Eye dog, but while she was arranging her own passage she received a cable from her fiance which told her, "License obtained." So Arta goes where Miss Mansfield goes.

They will sail on the Cunard liner Jutlandia for Southampton.

Ex-PW to Fly, Join Hub Mother

A mother, starry-eyed with happiness, cancelled hurried plans to fly to San Francisco today when she heard her only son, Pvt. Francis A. Heppler of Commonwealth ave., Allston, just released from the horrors of 23 months in Jap prison camps, would soon be flown to a hospital nearer home.

Her eyes shining with repressed tears, Mrs. Evelyn Heppler received the news.

Pvt. Heppler

"Just to have him back," she whispered, "where we can see him and take care of him. In my heart I know he'll be all right. He's come through so much now. They tell me he's suffering from malnutrition and beri-beri and he's hesitant to come home because he is so emaciated, but once we have him here he'll be all right. I just know it in my heart."

Pvt. Heppler, who was a cameraman in the U. S. Air Corps, was shoved from prison camp to prison camp after his capture nearly two years ago. The only time his mother finally heard from him was when she received a prisoner-of-war card 14 months after his capture, stating he was in a prison camp in Tokyo. When he telephoned last night after landing in San Francisco she immediately began to pack to meet him there. But this morning the good news came that the Army would transfer him to a hospital nearer home, possibly Cushing in Framingham.

"I hope all the mothers with sons still missing who have been telephoning me since my son's return was announced will also know this unbelievable happiness. Just to have him back—we'll take care of him and see him through."

Pvt. Heppler was captured by the Japs when the going was tough in the Pacific—when only two B-25's returned fom a group of 14 bombers which took off to bomb nickel mines in Celebes, metal used for making bombs.

She has not seen him for five years, and although she knows he has now been wasted down to about 100 pounds from Jap treatment, she has faith he will be all right once she gets him home

Boost in Fares Held Up by El

Zone fares on the Boston El will not be increased "at the present time," the trustees announced today following a conference with Governor Tobin who declared the proposed increase was "not justifiable."

The increase from five to seven and one-half cents was to go into effect tomorrow.

At the conclusion of today's conference, Gov. Tobin said the method of computing service costs by the El was before the Supreme Court and any proposed increase should await the court's decision.

He said the trustees based their plan to raise fares on a need for added revenue to meet revenue costs.

"The Commonwealth asserts that maintenance nd depreciation charges made to cost-of-service by the trustees from 1918 to the present have been greatly in excess of the amounts needed for such purposes," the Governor declared.

"Until the court decides on this question, the true costs of service and deficits cannot be finally determined."

The public control act gives the trustees exclusive right to fix and regulate fares, free of review or control by the Governor or any state board or commission.

GIs Who Nabbed Von Papen Here On Transport

Two modest Army sergeants, captors of the wily ace German diplomat, Fritz von Papen, came home today aboard the Navy transport U. S. S. Wakefield along with 8155 veterans of the European theater.

They are S-Sgt. Stephen A. Witchko of McKees Rock, Pa., and T-Sgt. Hugh G. Frederick of Adamsville, Ala., who surprised the much-sought Von Papen at lunch on his estate near Stockhausen, Germany.

The two lads, members of the 17th Airborne Division, debarking here at Commonwealth Pier, said it was all in the day's work.

"I am of Polish descent and can speak that language," Witchko said in explaining how the catch was made.

"We dropped to earth at Stockhausen and took over an air raid shelter for our command post," he continued. "Right off the bat, I heard one fellow speaking good English.

"It was Von Papen's son. We found that the Von Papen family had a hunting lodge a few miles back in the mountains and Sgt. Frederick and I took off in a jeep.

"We walked right in and that was Franz, himself, having lunch with his two daughters. We placed him under arrest and he then invited us to have a bite to eat. We declined but told him to go ahead and finish.

"We brought Von Papen back to town, turned him over to our superiors and then went back to work. It all was just a nice afternoon's ride."

Both are going home on furlough and hope soon to be civilians again.

The Wakefield's passenger list included 468 New Englanders.

Expected here later today is the S. S. Costa Rica Victory, bringing 1958 veterans, 156 from New England.

Woman's Body In Winthrop Surf Baffles Police

The body of a gray-haired, slightly built woman about 65, was washed ashore on Winthrop's Shore drive today, at the foot of Pearl ave.

Mystery in the discovery was only heightened when a woman bather found a neat pile of outer clothing and pocketbook, believed to be the victim's, about a quarter of a mile up the beach. No identifying papers or letters were found.

Benjamin Babson, Wave Way ave., was taking his daily stroll along the beach when he spied the body. He called local police who brought the body ashore and notified Sgt. Charles Hendrickson of the Metropolitan police.

The victim wore a blue and white dress, black belt, white nurse's shoes and was without stockings.

As authorities sought to establish identity, Mrs. Esther Tuck, Coral ave., reported finding the clothing. This included a blue hat and veil and a blue coat with the trademark "Hardwick, Malden."

Also found was a pocketbook containing $3 in bills, $1 in change, several religious medals and a small alarm clock.

Medical Examiner Brickley ordered the body removed to the Northern Mortuary.

The men, sitting in another car, told her most politely as she emerged from the bank that she had a flat tire awaiting her. They pointed to a garage down the street.

In the short time she was gone, the men forced open a wing window and took the money she had placed on the front seat.

Check by the garage man disclosed the ruse. The tire was not punctured; they had simply let out the air.

1947 New England Boom Seen

In the face of a prediction by a government spokesman that 1947 production in New England would be 36 per cent greater than in 1939, the New England Council was warned today industry and commerce must put "less of the Coolidge and more of the Billy Rose" in its sales methods.

The optimistic analysis of next year's prospects was given to the Council's 80th quarterly meeting at Hotel Statler by Prof. Harry R. Tosdal, of the Harvard Business School, a member of the Committee for Economic Development.

The warning that New England business men must shake up their sales methods if they hoped to compete with the rest of the nation came from Council President Frederick S. Blackhall, Jr., head of the Taft-Peirce Mfg. Co., of Woonsocket, R. I.

Speakers on behalf of both labor and management pleaded for solutoin of grievances rather than competition for power and agreed that high wages and managemtn profit were necessary in the peacetime economy.

C. Lawrence Munch, president of the Hood Rubber Co., declared management was too inclined to belittle union representatives while labor's weakness was in failing to realize management was important insuccessful business operation.

Robert Watt, international AFL representative, declared the present danger was not inflation because of workers' wages but a breakdown in earnings, which might cause a price structure collapse.

Prof. Tosdal declared his estimate of 1947 production was based on a national survey by the CED's marketing committee, indicating this area would produce goods worth $6,300,000,000 next year.

"This study is a straw in the wind," he said, "a straw which should bring courage and hope to American business men. It cannot tell them all the forward steps will be easy. But it can and should give them confidence for the first bold step of all."

He estimated percentage gains for New England in 1947 would be textiles, 27.2; leather and leather products, 22.3; rubber, 47.3; tobacco products, 69.4; electrical machinery, 56.2; furniture, 47.4; glass products, 43.2, and transportation equipment, except autos, 74.3.

The need for more vigorous shouting of its wares by New England was stressed by President Blackhall.

"By nature inclined to reticence," he said, "we need less of the Coolidge and more of the Billy Rose in our sales activities. If we could but try to emulate that arch-promoter, I am confident that our Coolidge tendencies would temper Billy's more garish traits and the resultant happy medium would have a salutary effect on our selling technique.

"New England producers are habitually derelict in sales activities. Maybe because we Yankees love so much to make things that we are just a little bored with the problem of getting them to market. Excelling as technicians, we seem to be poor merchandisers."

Truman's Plane Leaves for West

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—President Truman took off from the national airport today for a week-end with his home folks in Missouri.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley was to ride as far as Paducah, Ky., and Miss Reathel Odum, Mrs. Truman's secretary, was to leave the plane at Scott Field for an Illinois vacation.

From Kansas City, the President and Mrs. Truman will drive to their home at Independence. The President plans to return Sunday. Mrs. Truman will remain in Independence several days.

Kerrigan Flays Tax Board

Lashing at "dilatory tactics" of the Appelate Tax Board, Mayor Kerrigan declared today the time had come for it to be abolished.

* * *

"Long delays in rendering decisions apparently will continue to penalize Boston heavily," the Mayor said.

He pointed out that one leading institution in the city was assessed for $1,000,000, representing a $37,000 tax in 1935. On June 1, 1936, the trustees appealed to the Appelate Tax Board but it was not until April 11, 1941, that a decision against the city was returned, he said.

The city appealed and in the summer of 1944 the Supreme Judicial Court handed down a decision upholding the Tax Board, he said. The assessors, meanwhile, had imposed a tax each year since 1935 and this now must be refunded, a matter of $400,000 to $500,000.

R. I. Bank Teller Pleads Guilty

WOONSOCKET, Sept. 14 (AP)—A plea of guilty was entered today by Lawrence Balmforth, 28, to a charge of "larceny in the embezzlement" of $13,716.63 from the Woonsocket branch of the Old Colony Co-operative Bank of Providence, where he had been employed as a teller.

Judge Edward F. Dwyer held Balmforth in $15,000 for the grand jury which will convene in October.

Carrier Lake Champlain Here, Welcomes Visitors

In another stop in a Navy good will cruise, the 27,100-ton aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain arrived at Commonwealth Pier today and through next Tuesday will be open for inspection by the public.

The Champlain was commissioned at Norfolk in June and on her first voyage had a crew of which 80 per cent never had been to sea.

But many "hot" pilots from the Pacific now have been added and her commander, Capt. Logan C. Ramsey, is confident his ship can stand up against the best in the business. She has a crew of more than 2000, and over 80 planes of four different types.

"Of course, we all are glad the war is over," he told reporters, "but I did want one more crack at the Japs. I know my ship is one of the vehy best and has the latest in equipment and the best pilots.

"I was at Pearl Harbor when the Japs sneak-attacked and I lost many of my best friends. So, you see why I wanted another chance to even the score."

Capt. Ramsey saw some Pacific action and then was transferred to command the baby carrier Block Island in the orth Atlantic. He was there for a year and two days and got quite a few subs.

The Block Island was sunk after he lfet her and his sons, Ens. Logan Ramsey, Jr., now serves on the new Block Island.

The Champlain next goes to Philadelphia which the captain "thinks" is probably his home.

"You see, I was born in Washington and then went away to school, winding up at Annapolis with the class of 1919," he explained. "I think I have a house in Philadelphia but it's been a long time since I've been home to check up."

Visitors are welcome on the Champlain daily from 1to 4:30 p.m.

Subtilin New Miracle Drug

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (INS)—Discovery of subtilin, described as a miracle drug for the treatment of tuberculosis, was claimed today by Dr. Anthony J. Salle, assistant professor of bacteriology at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Salle said that in seven months of tests UCLA scientists have found that the drug kills tuberculosis germs in test tubes and is no more toxic to animals or the human system than is penicillin.

Worst of Job Layoffs Over

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—The worst of the mass layoffs in war industries is over. The War Manpower Commission said today.

Job losses will continue to be heavy for some time, the agency predicted, but at a steadily declining rate.

A survey of 134 major labor mrket areas showed 270,000 layoffs in the week ended Sept. 7. This compares with 300,000 in the preceding week, 1,800,000 in the first week after Japan's defeat.

Unemployment compensation claims, the survey indicated, changed little from the week ended Aug. 31 when the total was 1,093,695.

Faith of Few Financed A-Bomb

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
Special to the Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—The story of the undercover financing of the atomic bomb, its final production in the very presence of Japanese and German spies, and the narrow escape from fantastic failure when Congress was on the verge of cutting off all further money, reads like a page from Dumas or Victor Hugo.

Here revealed for the first time, the tale has incredible ramifications involving sublime faith in Gen. George Marshall, and the keeping of the greatest secret in the history of the world by 43 patriotic members of the House, as four times appropriations totalling in excess of $2,000,000,000 were smuggled through that body.

Back in 1939, Prof. Einstein at a secret conference at the White House revealed to President Roosevelt that Germany was at work on a bomb derived from atomic power of the uranium atom, derived from heavy water.

Einstein is supposed then to have urged that the United States begin work on the application of the split atom to war purposes.

Roosevelt, according to this report, turned the whole matter over to Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, director of the National Bureau of Standards. Marshall was called in, and gave the word to go.

An appropriation of approximately $1,000,000,000 was included in the pending military appropriation bill, so cleverly disguised in obscure language that it escaped detection. It seems incredible that this could have been done, but it was.

But it developed subsequently that Japanese and German spies knew all about it!

Up to the moment of the successful test in New Mexico last July, all the information that had gone to Tokyo was favorable to Japanese hopes.

The Jap high command believed that the American experiments were a failure.

So did the jittery members of the House Appropriations committee.

In May Gen. Marshall played his trump card. He said he would take a secret committee of five to the place where the secret tests were bing made.

Marshall took them to Oak Ridge, in the Tennessee Valley. There they found a wondrous city of 65,000 inhabitants, covering an immense area, a city which had been built for the purpose.

They were shown a cigarbox full of a beautiful, light green, granular substance.

For the first time they realized that what Marshall was working on was not a "death ray," but an explosive. Still they did not suspect the cosmic nature of the bomb that was in process of completion.

That little box of granular substance was all they could see, from all those buildings and factories and laboratories, that had come from an expenditure of such incredible money. They were flabbergasted. But faith in George Marshall triumphed again.

How much in excess of $2,000,000,000 these bombs will have cost has not yet been determined, but the sum may well run into some hundreds of millions.

Finally, July 21, the House adjourned for the summer recess.

Members of the committee brooded over the situation when they got back home.

One member of the committee has thus expressed his emotions in this trying time, as days passed and no word came that science had worked its marvel:

"I had some workmen at my farm, building a barn. They went off to lunch one day, in August. When they came back one of them said to me: That's a queer thing I just heard over the radio—they've dropped some sort of a new fangled bomb on a Japanese city, and wiped it off the face of the earth at one crack.

"Well, as I heard those words I felt an enormous weight roll right off my mind.

"Then I knew what Marshall was after. We had beaten Japan to the atomic bomb!"

This account reveals why Japan surrendered unconditionally when the atomic bomb crashed with the explosive force of 20,000 tons of TNT on Hiroshima.

Hirohito and his general staff knew just what it means.

Their intelligence service had misled them.

Instead of failure, the American experiment was a success.

The jig was up.

It was Potsdam or annihilation, and they knew it.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—My son was sent to the South Pacific four weeks before hostilities ceased. He is with a Maintenance Co., Air Corps, and has 81 points to his credit. Does he stand a chance of getting home this year? E. M. J., Boston.

A—Where son has sufficient points for discharge he stands chance of getting home this year, providing his job with Air Corps is not considered essential.

Q—Is the 7th Armored Division the same as the 7th Army? My boy is with the 7th Army on occupation duty and I read in your column recently the 7th Armored was about to return. J. M., Amesbury.

A—The 7th Army is composed of several divisions. Seventh Armored is a single division, so if does not mean your son is returning immediately with the latter group.

Q—Is the 9th Armored scheduled for return? A. O., Back Bay.

A—Yes, now at staging area ready for shipment home.

Q—Any reports on 75th Division? M. C., Framingham.

A—Not assigned for return this year.

Q—Has the War Department released any information on the 99th Division? If assigned to occupation duty, must they volunteer? A. W. C., Somerville.

A—The above division is now in the Pacific. Eventually those on occupation duty will be volunteers. At present such duty is assigned similar to combat action.

Q—My son was in his third year of high school when inducted into Army, December, 1943. He has been overseas 14 months and received Purple Heart. He wants to return to school before he is too old. Can he get discharged for that reason? J. G., Lewiston, Me.

A—Army regulations at present do not call for any discharge in order to return to school. That is a matter that Congressional leaders are now taking up with Congress—to have boys who left high school be discharged to return to school so they may complete education. Suggest you write your Congressman urging him to support such measure.

Q—My son is with the 90th Div. now serving in Germany. He has had eyesight and had served three and one-half years in Merchant Marine before induction into Army, therefore he has only a few points. Will he be taken out of his present division and assigned to occupation duty? M. Mc., Quincy.

A—His division is assigned to leave for home in December. Because of low points he might be taken from this division and reassigned. That is a question that only his commanding officers could answer.

Hundreds of letters are being received by the Veterans' Friend requesting information about when certain companies, regiments, battalions, hospital and other units are returning from Europe.

The War Dept. will not give out any information in advance of these organizations. Only division departures are being released in advance.

Announcement of the above mentioned groups, giving unit designations, are released following embarkation at a foreign port. Schedule of arrivals at U. S. ports will be found on another page of this newspaper under the heading "The Boys Come Home."

General Praises Boston Port

Maj. Gen. Charles R. Gross, transport chief of the Army Service Force, and New York railroad executives inspected port facilities here today and predicted a bright postwar future for Boston.

Among the visitors was Gustav Metzman, president of the New York Central railroad, who praised Boston highly.

Big 5 Parley Makes Progress

LONDON, Sept. 14 (INS)—Highest diplomatic authorities said this afternoon "splendid progress" had been made during today's Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers and added that agreement had been reached on certain points of the Italian treaty.

The same sources said the Big Five meetings had accomplished as much in a few days as the San Francisco conference did in three weeks in casting aside the routine and getting down to business.

Occupation End Seen in Year by 8th Army Chief

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (AP) The occupation of Japan "may be washed up" within a year, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger predicted today.

He expressed his views at a press conference in his Eighth Army headquarters, where he observed that "when an insular country loses its land, sea and air power and is without raw materials and has big countries sitting on its flanks, it can't be much of a threat."

He estimated occupation would necessitate use of about 400,000 American troops, but disclosed that orders for some units, notably railroad troops and engineer shore parties, had been cancelled when Jap installations were found in better shape than expected.

Hitler Press Used Same 100 Insults

BERLIN, Sept. 14 (AP)—Otto Dietrich, Hitler's personal publicity man, advised Nazi newspapers during the war to keep handy on editorial desks a numbered list of 100 insults and epithets for use against United Nations countries and their leaders, the newspaper Der Morgan said today.

He gave examples, the newspaper said, such as gangster, stooge of world Jewry and enemy of mankind, and told editors the most effective use of them could be made by employing odd-numbered epithets 1 to 25 the first day, even-numbered epithets 2 to 26 the second day, and so on.

OPA Sees Price Rule Till Spring; Potatoes Off List

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—OPA officials predicted today there can be no large-scale removal of food price controls before spring.

They said so far as they can tell now last night's suspension of price ceilings on white potatoes does not indicate a trend for other market basket commodities.

The action on potatoes was taken because supply is the largest in years and because they have been selling below ceilings in a number of areas.

Controls were suspended for the period through Oct. 25. If prices should rise significantly before that time, ceilings will be reinvoked. If they stay down, the suspension may become a cancellation.

OPA described the move as "the first of its kind affecting an important staple food."

"Ceilings on nearly all major foods will have to be retained throughout the winter if American families are to be safeguarded against inflationary prices," said one official.

Urges Army Send Dad to Dying Baby

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Rita Ohler appealed to the Army to send her husband, T5 Merle H. Ohler, serving in Germany, home to the bedside of their 20-month-old daughter, Christine, reported near death after an operation.

The baby, which has suffered from a heart ailment since birth, last week was stricken by an intestinal obstruction. Despite the danger she would be unable to survive the shock, surgeons were forced to operate.

Since then, the little girl has lain in an oxygen tent. Today or tomorrow, doctors may know whether she has a chance to live.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (INS)—The London radio said today 10,000 tons of canned meat will be flown from London to relieve the acute meat shortage in France.

FENUGREEK TEA

FENUGREEK TEA IS A NATURAL HERB!

FENUGREEK is a natural herb that has given results in many when other methods seemingly failed. It has often been said that FENUGREEK TEA is "A Cup of Good Health from the Good Earth."

A cup of this very pleasant tea is taken before meals (and upon retiring) This mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus helping to absorb by solvency, the poisons that may sometimes foster stomach troubles. It thus often acts quickly to help relieve gas pains, acid-indigestion, sourness and belching.

Headaches, backaches, and that tired-out feeling are often caused by toxic poisons and pockets of impurities in the intestinal tract. FENUGREEK TEA helps flush out impurities which may have been inside you a long time. By helping to dissolve excess mucus, it can help make your digestive organs feel sweet and clean. Try it today.

Being a liquid mucus-solvent, FENUGREEK TEA naturally tends to flush out thick stagnant bile and also to assist flushing of kidneys. If you are constipated: Try it half hour before breakfast. While not a laxative, this may help induce intestinal flushing.

If your physician has placed you on an ulcer or colitis diet, you'll enjoy the soothing effects of FENUGREEK TEA.

Tear out this advertisement as a reminder to get Leland Rexall's FENUGREEK TEA. Only 50c a box — or $1.50 for the Economy Size, containing four times as much. (Add 10c for mail orders). Sold only by:

GREAT MOVEMENT

A GREAT religious movement, utilizing the resources of the churches of America for the instruction and inspiration of the youth of America, has been gaining tremendous momentum throughout the nation in recent months.

It is called the "YOUTH FOR CHRIST CRUSADE," and it has such an attraction and appeal for young people that hundreds of thousands of young men and women, and boys and girls, are now participating regularly and enthusiastically.

In more than a thousand cities and towns of the United States the churches and the church people are conducting these wholesome and beneficial religious services, and the earnest and appreciative young people of all these communities are deriving many helpful and pleasurable benefits from them.

THIS IS ONE OF THE BEST "YOUTH MOVEMENTS" EVER ORGANIZED IN BEHALF OF THE YOUNG PEOPLE OF AMERICA, AND IT SHOWS EVERY EVIDENCE OF BEING THE NATION'S SOLUTION OF THE PROBLEM OF MISDIRECTED AND NEGLECTED YOUTH ACTIVITIES—A PROBLEM WHICH IS THE PRINCIPAL CAUSE OF THE DANGEROUS AND DESTRUCTIVE THING WE CALL "JUVENILE DELINQUENCY."

THE AMERICAN nation has desperate need for such a movement, as the startling crime reports of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have shown throughout the war years, and continue to show.

The latest of these reports is for the first six months of 1945, and it discloses that in this period there were 58,041 arrests of persons UNDER 21 YEARS OF AGE.

These arrests of young people accounted for nearly ONE FOURTH of all the arrests in the country.

The most SHAMEFUL fact disclosed is that the age group from which the largest number of arrests are made is that including boys and girls ONLY SEVENTEEN YEARS OLD.

This is a terrible blight upon our national life.

It is a terrible INDICTMENT of the American people—not of our boys and girls, but of men and women, fathers and mothers, teachers, clergymen, judges, policemen, authors, journalists, politicians, and all mature and responsible people.

Surely, then, there is a vital place for the great "Youth for Christ" movement in American life, and A DESPERATE NEED FOR IT.

It is almost providential that it has appeared and had such wide acceptance at such an acute time of national need.

THE AMERICAN communities which have encouraged and promoted it have set in motion the best possible machinery for their material and spiritual enrichment.

The American churches which are participating in it are living up to the great moral purpose which justifies their existence.

The American people who are giving their time and energies to its success are contributing to a more wholesome and beneficial national life.

But obviously, there are not enough American communities and churches and people taking part in this great religious movement.

It is a tremendously GOOD thing.

It is getting to be a very BIG thing.

BUT UNTIL ITS WHOLESOME FACILITIES FOR ATTRACTIVE RECREATION AND ENTERTAINMENT, FOR MORAL AND SPIRITUAL GUIDANCE AND FOR RELIGIOUS APPEAL AND INSTRUCTION ARE MADE AVAILABLE TO THE WHOLE BODY OF AMERICAN YOUTH, THE MOVEMENT IS NEITHER GOOD ENOUGH NOR BIG ENOUGH.

The "Youth for Christ" movement is the ANSWER to the skeptics who have said there is nothing the American nation can do about its rising tide of juvenile delinquency except to let it run its destructive course in the manner of a pestilential disease.

It is already salvaging the lives of thousands of American young people, and it should be utilized to the limit of its vast capacities.

"AND SO, my Fellow Countrymen, today I report to you that your sons and daughters have served you well and faithfully with the calm, deliberate, determined fighting spirit of the American soldier and sailor. Based upon a tradition of historical trait, as against fanaticism of an enemy supported only by mythological fiction, their spiritual strength and power have brought us through to victory. They are homeward bound—take care of them."—Gen. Douglas MacArthur in speech to people of the United States, following Japanese surrender aboard U. S. S. Missouri, September 2, 1945.

Set your love before me as a light!
A candle tall; so shall I, weak, prevail
O'er darkness.
Set your love upon me as a prayer!
So softly breathed that none
But God and you and I the words may guess.
Whisper it down the quiet, dearest one,
The while I reach my lips for your caress—
Set your love upon me as a prayer!

SOME OF our male subscribers complain it is almost impossible these days to find an intelligent, sensible girl of the type an intelligent man would like to marry. The claim is, of course, ridiculous. It reflects upon the intelligence of those who make it. There are plenty of smart looking, clean living, intelligent girls available. You have to know where to look for them. Last Sunday I passed a church in Manhattan just as the congregation was leaving. Among this group I saw quite a number of extremely good looking girls whose taste in attire and general manner indicated intelligence. A church is a good place to find the right kind of girl. Of course, that is just one place. I will mention some others in an early issue.

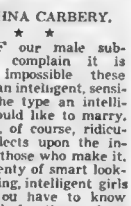
QUERIES FOR CLIENTS: Q—What is the world's most intelligent dog? Don't stall now, give us a definite answer. A—The smartest of all dogs is the Australian sheepdog known as the Kelpie . . . Q—Who is the first lady of the theater. Helen Hayes or Katharine Cornell? A—Title of first lady of the theater rightly belongs to Ethel Barrymore . . . Q—What do you mean England has never produced a heavyweight champion? Wasn't Bob Fitzsimmons born in Cornwall, Eng.? A—Looks as if you win the stogie. Still, I have always considered Bob an Australian . . . Q—Are you prepared to admit Suderman's "Song of Songs" is the greatest novel written in any language? A—It's a great novel, but I believe you have it pegged too high. I wouldn't attempt to name the greatest of all novels, but I think "David Copperfield" and "Of Human Bondage" are both better than "Song of Songs."



Ethel Barrymore

SAYS SHE: "If every woman worked in an office for a year before marriage perhaps more would approach their household tasks in a systematic manner," writes a career woman of Manhattan. "It is a sad sight to note the bewilderment with which some women approach housework. Any woman with an intelligent system can handle her housework in a few hours. There is drudgery in housework only if a woman makes it so. I work 48 hours a week in an office and do all my housework in addition. I say again and again it is all in how the work is planned. When I give up my office job and have nothing to do but housekeeping I shall feel as if I have embarked on a lifelong vacation."

BRIEFLY: "Why do you continue to harass the brown-eyed honey blondes?" writes a Toledo subscriber. "Haven't we enough trouble with people always staring at us and wondering what we use on our hair?" . . . A Chicagoan with a collie named Elmer wants to start a club for dogs with ususual names. Elmer is not such an unusual name for a dog. However, two pups that would be eligible for such a club are the two well-known prize-winning Scotties named Damifino and Damificare.

ASIDES: In pre-war days when any newspaperman referred to the Japanese as the "Japs," the editor usually received a protest from the Japanese embassy. Referring to a Nipponese as a Jap really gets under his skin . . . How many times have you been kissed in your life? Never mind answering. None of my business, anyhow. Just wanted you to give a thought to Arthur Machek of Milwaukee who lived to be 71 years old and stated in his will he had been only kissed once in his life. He left $500 to a young woman, who, as a young girl, had given him that kiss.

"Colonel Cole, I think you're gonna find Lt. Dunlap's response to your order a little surprising, Sir!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, by King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—Harold Laski, once of Harvard, and now secretary of the Labor party which rules Great Britain, seems to misunderstand the equation between the American citizen and taxpayer, and the party for which he speaks.

Harold Laski

Although he holds no British public office, Laski also presumes to speak for the British people and their government as well, which should be all right with us if it is with them.

If they want to repudiate him that also is up to them, but up to now they seem not to think he has exceeded his credentials.

Laski's government took office to the tune of the Internationale, the anthem of the Communists.

News photographs of Clement Attlee, the new prime minister, showed many persons saluting with the clenched fist, which is the Communist challenge.

All that is all right, too, with Americans who grant other peoples the right to choose their own poison.

But, in a speech at Blackpool to the British Trades Union Conference, Laski said his people would insist on their right to experiment with their own lives on their own terms, subject to no interference from American "big business" and that is where he made his mistake.

★ ★ ★

IT ISN'T American "big business," particularly, which objects and it isn't the right of the British to experiment with their own lives on any terms they choose, that is objected to.

The objectors are the AMERICAN TAXPAYERS, to whom Laski and his party and its government look for new homes, free; new industrial equipment, free; cash unemployment and demobilization allowances, free; and food and clothing for an indefinite time—all free.

Laski also seems to think that the right of the British to experiment with their own lives includes a right to experiment with the lives of the people of Spain, as well.

So he obviously means that a busted Britain not only demands that American workers pay taxes to support the British Labor government which can't "experiment" successfully without a share of the American taxpayer's dollar, but that they contribute to the financing of another civil war among a people with whom Americans now enjoy certainly no less trustful relations than we enjoy with Soviet Russia.

★ ★ ★

IT IS, therefore, not, as he suggests, American "big business" which is primarily concerned here. It is the AMERICAN WORKER, on, say, $60 a week, who finds $12 missing from his envelope by way of withholding tax, who insists on being included out of the British experiments.

This American is beginning to understand that, although legally he is obliged to pay taxes only to his own government, the Laskis of the other world have built a pipeline into the American treasury and are drawing off his earnings to be handed out as doles to Britons.

The British certainly do have the right to experiment, but that experiment runs toward Communism, the declared enemy of the system that provides the wages that enable the American to pay his taxes.

The proposition is simple and the analysis is clear and the Americans have indicated no desire to interfere with the British experiments.

THEY JUST DON'T FEEL ANY OBLIGATION TO PAY FOR THEM.

LASKI is less well known to Americans than he should be. But we recall that he had the impudence to interfere in disorders amounting to violent overthrow of government in the Boston police strike of 1919.

Left virtually unprotected, the people of Boston were at the mercy of mob violence, an experience similar to that of the people of Liverpool about the same time. Laski argued that the police had a right to join any body to better their economic position.

The American people repudiated the whole affair by electing Calvin Coolidge Vice-President and, by succession, President, for the chief reason that he beat the strike and banished forever, without benefits and against all kinds of threats and appeals, the men whom Laski appears to have upheld.

The police of Liverpool may have, as Laski would assure them, a right to organize for their economic betterment and to strike again.

But, admitting the American taxpayer has no right to interfere with such an experiment, neither has he any obligation to pay for it.

Hollywood Today

Substituting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14—W. R. Burnett politely asked for his release from Warners and politely received it. The author of "Little Caesar," "Nobody Lives Forever," and "Tomorrow Is Another Day" caught the independent production bug that has been floating around the Warner lot like an epidemic—and wants to go it on his own.

Tucked in his brief case is a story titled "Romelle," to be published as a novel by Alfred A. Knopf, and here's the plan:

Joan Crawford

He wrote it with Joan Crawford in mind and he wants her as the star in a "Package Deal" to be offered as a major release. It is a psychological mystery yarn with weird and unusual happenings taking place in a small home in the San Fernando Valley. Could I say Burnett's made the San Fernando Valley his groan—or is that too corny?

MARJORIE RAMBEAU has the biggest incentive to get well since her near tragic automobile accident. Although Marjorie is still on crutches, she's just been signed by Howard Land for the starring role in his New York show, "And Shadows Fall."

The play is an adaptation of Lulu Vollmer's magazine story that ran under the ambiguous title, "She Put Out To Go."

The doctors credit Marjorie's marvelous improvement in the past few days to her knowledge that she's returning to her first love. Grease paint seeps right through the hide of actresses like Rambeau, who never forget the thrill that goes with the curtain call.

PARAMOUNT had to throw in the sponge on getting Hedy Lamarr for the femme lead opposite Bob Hope in "Monsieur Beaucaire," but George Marshall and Paul Jones have another bright idea.

They went over to General Service and looked at some scenes of Jane Russell in "Young Widow," and if Howard Hawks will talk turkey they want her for Bob's be-wigged leading lady.

Hunt Stromberg, who has Hedy tied up for "Strange Woman," tried to arrange his schedule so Para could have her, but he had rented stage space and couldn't switch the starting date.

FRANK CAPRA'S first movie in five years will be "The Greatest Gift," a story bought by Frank and his partner, Sam Briskin, from RKO, for their Liberty films. It's about a man who wishes he had never been born and gets his wish.

So far, no star, no leading lady. But RKO releases the yarn they just sold.

ALAN LADD and Sue Carol are back without ever getting to Canada. They had car trouble in Oregon and decided to get in their salmon fishing and swimming there. So far no solution on Alan's contract battles with Paramount. But I hear his fans are driving the studio "nertz" pelting the biggies with letters demanding Alan be done right by! He has one fan club of a thousand members, and every one of them must have airmailed in an indignant complaint judging from the snow pile in the fan mail department.

EVERYONE KNOWS what a G-Man is, but it took Andrew Stone to dig up a T-Man for the movies. These are the Treasury operators who handle dope smuggling and income tax cases. Andy, today, registered the title "T-Man" with the Hays Office and is having the story prepared to follow "Petticoat Lane." Yarn will be built around actual cases of how the Government cracked the evidence and convicted some of the big tax evaders — particularly Al Capone.

LYNN BARI and Sid Luft just thought they would get a month's vacation at Colorado Springs.

It was cut short two weeks when 20th long-distanced her to come back right away for the femme lead in "Shock," Lynn's first since the death of her baby.

Even the brief rest has been good for her and she's more like herself again. That smoothie, Vincent Price, has the male lead in "Shock."

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Pretty silly of Max Baer to announce the "engagement" of Jack Dempsey and Evelyn Keyes at Slapsy Maxie's when Evelyn was really with Walter Kane and Jack just dropped in to join them. Don't believe a word of it everybody concerned was s-o-o embarrassed; that hat Anne Baxter accidentally sat on at Kenneth Hopkins' and crushed into such a becoming shape was bought by Jeanette MacDonald and on her it looks good; just heard that a reader wrote an indignant letter to the magazine that ran the torrid Lana Turner-John Garfield stills, saying, "I never saw five hotter pages." To which the editors replied, "There were only three pages—it just seemed like five."

Friday, she lands in Las Vegas to be guest of honor at a style show of Western fashions tied in with her new starring picture, "Frontier Girl." Clothes will be entirely by West Coast designers who are jumping in to give the New York houses competition! Surprise Surprise! If anyone's in doubt about time marching on - Virginia Weidler, 19 years old and just out of movie pigtails, herself, may accept the role of the mother of a three-year-old in a New York show. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—Lucy Monroe, the "Star Spangled" soprano, is in Roosevelt Hospital after a collapse . . . Actress Lesley Woods, due on Broadway this season in "The Assassin," will waltz down the aisle with Maj. Ralph Zimet . . . Jane Froman is expected back from overseas momentarily . . . The Johnny Weismullers have figured out a property settlement. And he's figured out that Brenda Heiser, the swimmer, is a cute trick . . . A clergyman is all set to accuse a high-ranking city official before the elections—of failing to investigate a scandal linking a policeman and a gambler . . . Gene Sheldon is sure now that the war really is over—he saw a girl wink at a civilian . . . Motion picture fans have been swamping Warner Bros. with mail asking if Sgt. Al Schmid ever regained his sight. The ending of "Pride of the Marines" hints that he may . . . For the forthcoming "Live Life Again," scenic designer Albert Johnson is doing a country graveyard set in which the tombstones will bear the names of all the people he doesn't like. First-nighters with opera-glasses please note . . . Van Johnson is perishing to do a Broadway show. The only thing standing in his way is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer—a rather hefty obstacle, at that. New Yorkers returning from Coast visits say Van is just as nice now as when he was a chorus boy in "Too Many Girls."

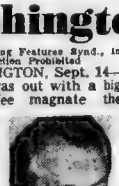
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—I was out with a big coffee magnate the other night, when he said: "How do you feel about the proposed airport at Antelope Island, Utah?" I told the magnate I had no feelings on that subject, or any other then, except a terrific pain in the neck caused by present company. He said he thought I should give some thought to Antelope Island.



Sen. McCarran

"Senator McMahon is against it," he said. "He doesn't see why the country should spend a lot of money for an airport there just to accommodate a herd of moose."

I asked the magnate if he would mind explaining what the devil he was ranting about and he said I should read page 8579, middle column, of the Congressional Record.

"It contains one of the finest pieces of debating I have read in years," he said. "It seems the Senate is considering a bill (S. 2) to appropriate $500,000,000 to build airports all over the country.

"The measure is sponsored by Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada who naturally wishes his state to have a fair share of these airports. Senator McMahon of Connecticut is for the bill generally, but he thinks Senator McCarran is trying to interject too many screwy items."

"You mean Senator McCarran wishes too much for Nevada and not enough for Connecticut?" I asked.

"That may have something to do with it," admitted the magnate. "But just read the record for yourself."

I did—and here goes:

MR. McMAHON: "I have in my hand a booklet entitled 'National Airport Plan,' which purports to be a letter from the acting secretary of commerce transmitting a report of a survey of the need for a system of airports and landing areas throughout the United States. I presume the Senator from Nevada is familiar with the proposed plan."

MR. McCARRAN: "I believe I am familiar with it."

MR. McMAHON: "Does it meet with the Senator's approval as an implementation of the provisions of the pending bill?"

MR. McCARRAN: "I would answer the question 'yes,' but I have not made a study with reference to the location or the locale of the airports to which reference is made in the plan. I did not believe that to be a part of my particular duty."

MR. McMAHON: "I am happy to hear that, because I have been examining this plan and I have found, for example, that $15,600 was allocated for a plant at Antelope Island, Utah. Investigation has disclosed that at that point there is but one family and a herd of moose. Certainly at that point an airport is not needed to fly moose meat into Chicago, because the rationing of meat is about over. I return to the Senator's state of Nevada and I find under this plan for which we are asked to appropriate several hundred million dollars, 73 airports have been projected for cities or towns in Nevada, 22 of which have a population of less than a hundred people. I am glad to know that the Senator does not adhere to the plan to implement this bill, because to my mind it is as fantastic as anything I have ever seen in my life."

MR. McCARRAN: "Let me say that the people of Nevada travel in a very high class manner, and therefore they want airports everywhere."

MAJ. GEORGE CARROLL, who used to be a newspaperman before he became as gallant a warrior as ever carried a hand grenade and portable typewriter into battle, advises me from Manila that all the correspondents out there missed a great human interest story on Gen. Jonathan Wainwright.

"I do not know how they came to muff it," writes Maj. Carroll, "but they passed it up completely. Understand I am not knocking the war correspondents, although I sometimes wonder how many of them would have made out if they had been forced to work the old night police trick in New York."

★ ★ ★

MAJ. CARROLL, who used to be one of our better journalists—being able to both read and write—said the story was this:

"All the time he was a captive of the Japanese, Gen. Wainwright was the official razor blade sharpener for the members of his party."

Adds Maj. Carroll:

"Gen. Wainwright had a whetstone. He would sit hour after hour sharpening razor blades for his men. He kept them in sharp blades all the time.

"When the General was released, almost his first words were:

"'I guess I'll be going out of the blade-sharpening business. I'm taking my shingle down.'"

TIP: New York is being plagued by a flood of German five-mark pieces which are being passed on the unwary as American half-dollars . . . A few of the pieces are being passed in Boston, too . . . The German coin is nearly as heavy as a U. S. 50-cent piece, but it is not quite as large . . . An engraving of Von Hindenburg's profile decorates the foreign coin . . . It is worth only what its metal content assays, at this writing.

HENRY SHATTUCK'S swing to William Arthur Reilly marks the disappointing end of a one-time close alliance between the Republican leader and Mayor Kerrigan . . . When the two men were in the City Council, Shattuck looked upon his younger colleague as a promising protege . . . The break, however, will give the South Boston candidate a talking-point in his campaign.

★ ★ ★

AGAINST his rival, Candidate Reilly, John will be able to place the charge of Republican support . . . Of much help to that other notable candidate in the impending Mayoralty sweepstakes, Cong. James M. Curley, will be the knowledge that Cong. John W. McCormack is in his corner . . . Whether the McCormack declaration will be open (which is unlikely) may not be too important . . . A large and devoted bloc of McCormack followers in Boston always manages to learn where John's interest lies in a Boston election . . . And that's the way the McCormack fans vote.

★ ★ ★

ONE BUSINESS that has slumped is the manufacture of locks for gasoline tanks . . . When can we expect a return of sausage-making comparable to pre-war days? . . . The sausages being sold would soon put the packing companies out of business . . . And should bacon be as scarce as it seems to be? . . . Again, the packers would be advised to get busy in getting back to pre-war standards in this food product . . . The cigaret which seems to continue to be scarce is the brand which first featured the king-sized cigaret . . . The explanation is that the growth of this particular brand was enormous in the war . . . Unless its makers, however, improve the quality of paper-wrapping which has gone into its recent output, much of the goodwill won in the past few years will vanish.

If construction can be rushed, the greyhound oval will be inaugurated before the end of the horse-racing season.

Gifts for All Overseas

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashions Editor

STARTING TOMORROW, we shall all be thinking about Christmas gifts for our boys and girls still overseas, and you'd better start shopping now if you want to be sure the gifts arrive.

What those in the armed forces need, and appreciate enormously, are toiletries which give them a feeling of luxury and relaxation.

One of the swankier cosmetics houses, knowing this need, has got together two kits, one for women overseas and one for men, which are tops in selection and surprisingly low in price. We'll bet a hat that any girl in uniform will bless you for such a gift, and that any GI Joe or gold-braided officer will be equally grateful for his.

In the feminine package, packed in a good-looking sturdy gray box, are packed a heavenly-scented bottle of eau de parfum, fragrant, romantic and tangy . . . heavier than the usual eau de cologne and really lasting . . . plus an effective emergency tooth cleanser and mouth wash, and a luscious bar of pink, pearly soap.

ALL READY FOR MAILING

The gentleman's gift package, in a good-looking kit of simulated tan leather, contains an Active Ozone shave-stick (which the boys rave about), a foot-stick marvelous for cooling tired, itching feet, and a man-size bar of old English-type, rich-lathering soap.

The wonderful thing about these gift packages is that they are all wrapped and packed, ready for mailing, so you don't have all the fuss and bother. Again, you just can't go wrong on this gift, because even if it were duplicated the recipient would only be doubly glad.

Call Liberty 4000 weekdays except Saturdays before five, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, Boston 6, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope for more information about these gift boxes.

LARAINE DAY and Robert Walker were only acting at being in the Army when this picture was taken . . . but it may remind you that tomorrow is the day to start shopping for overseas Christmas gifts. Today we give you a good suggestion along that line.

Sugar-Less Cookies Rich in Nutrition

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

IS THE COOKIE JAR FULL at your house? Now that school time is here, good tasting cookies containing cereals help to round out the noon lunch whether it is eaten at home or carried to school. Every mother does her best to feed her family well for she knows that the food they eat is used for building and repairing their bodies.

In planning nutritious lunches, plentiful and economical cereal cookies, made with eggs and milk, add important amounts of protein, B vitamins (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin), calcium, iron and energy to the diet. Wise mothers can use these popular cookies to good advantage by serving them with fruit or pudding or a glass of milk for a simple dessert.

Here are two sugar-saving cookies rich in flavor and nutrition. These recipes are so easy to make that the children can have fun making their own to keep the cookie jar filled.

Lunch Box Cookies

HONEY DROPS

¼ cup fat — ½ cup honey
1 egg — 1 cup rolled oats
1 cup sifted flour — 1 tbsp. milk
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. cinnamon — ½ tsp. salt
½ cup chopped raisins

Cream fat and honey together. Add egg and beat until blanded. Stir in rolled oats and milk. Sift dry ingredients; add with raisins and mix well. Drop from teaspoon on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) 18 to 20 minutes. Makes 2½ dozen. An easy spicy cookie that may be frosted for special occasions.

GINGER BARS

¼ cup fat — 1-3 cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt — 1 egg
½ cup honey or dark molasses
½ cup cold strong coffee
1 cup wheat flakes
1 cup sifted flour
1½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. ground cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon — ½ tsp. ginger
½ tsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. grated lemon rind

Cream fat and sugar together. Add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in honey, coffee and wheat flakes which have been crushed to make ½ cup crumbs. Sift together the dry ingredients and stir into first mixture until blended. Add lemon juice and rind. Turn into greased shallow pan 8 by 8 inches. Bake in moderate oven 350 to 375 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Cool and cut into bars. May be frosted with an orange icing. Makes about 12 bars.

SOFT MOLASSES COOKIES

3 tbsp. shortening
3 tbsp. brown sugar
½ cup molasses
½ cup bran cereal
1½ tsp. soda — ½ tsp. salt
¼ cup cold water

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly. Stir in molasses and bran cereal. Sift flour, soda, and salt together; add to first mixture alternately with water, stirring after each addition. Drop by tablespoons onto greased baking sheets. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 15 minutes. Makes 2 dozen cookies.

Furlough Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: When my daughter's fiance comes home (soon, we hope) for a two-weeks' furlough from his camp in Texas, they plan to be married. Since the date is so indefinite, and since he will not have much time here, there won't be time to have invitations engraved. She is having a church wedding in the evening. Would it, under these circumstances, be proper to invite as many of the guests as possible by telephone, and write notes to those who have no telephones and to those who live at a distance? S. H.

If your daughter's church wedding is to be formal or even on the side of formality, and if you and she really prefer to have engraved invitations, you may do what is often done nowadays — order engraved invitations, with the date-line left blank (to be filled-in later in ink) and have the envelopes delivered to you at once so that they can be addressed, stamped, and all ready to be mailed.

The alternative to this, and a proper procedure also, is to do what you have in mind: telephone or telegraph or write notes to the guests. Also, to save valuable time at the last minute, I suggest you write "preliminary" notes now to those whom you can't inform by telephone, telling that you will write or wire the date when it is decided on.

Didn't Wed for Love First Time; Likes Younger Girl

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I'm a young man of 23 years, and the girl I'm in love with is five or six years younger. Her brothers say I'm not in love with her and that it's only my imagination.

I've been married four years, but didn't marry for love. I had to marry the girl because she was going to have a baby. And now we're going to get a divorce. My wife says she never loved me and wants to be free.

The girl I'm really in love with is the first love of my life and I don't know whether she loves me or not. She told my brother she'll go with me after I get a divorce. How can I find out whether she cares for me? J. P. S

As you're not divorced, and the girl has said she will not go with you until after you're free, why don't you give all parties concerned more time? You've had one unhappy marriage—why run the risk of making another with a girl who is little more than a child. And there is the question of your son who is not responsible for all the discordant elements that have entered into his young life. He's really the one who has my sympathy.

You'll probably think I'm an old grouch, but I'd suggest that at 23 years of age you wait a little while before marrying a second time.

Draped Jersey Dress Tops

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THERE IS no finer kind of dress than the one made of good jersey, with soft draping to give it figure-flattery. This is one of the dresses that I have seen done by most of our best designers for fall, usually in good wool jersey or mixed rayon and wool. Such a dress is one you can wear for almost anything you do.

I have selected one model to show you. This dress was designed by Claire McCardell and is slanted for the young figure. It is made of black jerdilla jersey and has the very small-looking waistline that is so chic, done in soft-draped folds on a wide corselet line.

The waist is very simple and soft above this draped girdle, with a high draped neckline and loose, wide-armhole sleeves. The skirt is gathered at the front and has vertically set-in pockets at the sides.

HERE ARE accessories with "checks appeal." Elaine, MBC's talented harpist, uses a versatile black and white check scarf as a jaunty shoulder bow to light up her basic black frock, and with it wears the new, above-the-wrist gauntlet gloves of checks to match.

Catholic Chaplain Tells Grisly Story of Jap Deeds

CAMP EDWARDS, Sept. 14 (AP)—A Catholic chaplain who spent 34 months in a Jap prison camp today told of how his captors paraded through the camp bearing the severed head of a Filipino, as a measure of intimidation.

Maj Albert D. Talbot, a native of Fall River, related the grisly story at the camp convalescent hospital where he now is stationed as chaplain.

Ordained to the priesthood in Fall River in 1924, he became a teacher of the Sulpician Fathers, and entered the Army in 1941. He was captured in the Philippines on April 9, 1942, and liberated last Feb. 4.

"Whatever has been said or read in our current publications regarding the Japanese," Maj. Talbot said, "has not been exaggerated and I am prepared to back up that statement."

He told of how a Jap sentry shot down an American Army officer while near a "safety barrier" in the camp and how the Jap then dragged the body under the barrier and reported he had killed the man because he was "beyond the deadline."

At other times, he said, prisoners were forced to stand under the blazing sun, hands overhead, for long periods, for minor infractions of the regulations.

Hurricane

Red Cross had 5000 volunteers standing by.

Army and Navy "hurricane hunters," equipped with new scientific devices, went out into the swirling storm area to keep a close watch on the progress of the hurricane.

One pilot predicted the winds would reach a peak velocity of 150 m. p. h. by the time they reached the U. S. mainland.

Maj. Collis L. Jordan, Army Air Force public relations officer, said all unmarried officers and men would be sent to "batten down" at the big concrete-based Hialeah race track grandstand, 12 miles northwest of Miami.

Married officers and men will be dismissed to go with their families, he said, and about 200 WACs will be sent to a downtown Miami high school.

Jordan said all ATC flights had been cancelled today. Incoming planes which beat the storm are being ordered to take off immediately for the north.

Miami's greatest storm disaster, which struck in 1926, took a toll of 327 killed, 6327 injured and property damage estimated at $50,000,000.

The Red Cross said many lives were lost through ignorance. Families on Miami Beach, gambling on reaching the mainland during a between-storms lull, started to race across the narrow, low-lying causeway and were caught by the returning furies. Bodies were washed up in Biscayne bay for months afterward.

The current storm, 11th of the 1945 "hurricane season" and potentially by far the most dangerous, swept up from the Atlantic east of the Lesser Antilles, gaining in violence at the core as it moved northwestward.

Boston Weather Bureau officials said it was impossible to forecast the exact path of the storm at this time.

The officials pointed out that virtually every hurricane on the Atlantic coast begins in the same general area.

"The fact that this disturbance is traveling an almost parallel course to the 1938 and 1944 hurricanes does not mean it will continue along that course," the weatherman said.

"It is impossible to say anything about the hurricane's effect on New England at this time. If there is any danger to this area, full information will be given as soon as we get it."

Fall Plowing Best Only Under Some Conditions

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record-American-Advertiser garden on Boston Common.

Q—I noticed in a garden book that fall plowing is best. Why is this true?

A—Under some conditions fall plowing is best. If sod ground is to be broken up the freezing and thawing helps. Fall plowing also helps to destroy insects such as grubs and wire worms. Another reason for fall plowing is to turn under crop refuse. If you are planning to grow a green manure crop on old garden land, fall plowing is not practical.

Q—How late can I leave celery in the garden? We have several rows which we cannot use up before frost.

A—Celery is a hardy crop and will stand considerable cool weather. It is damaged by freezing. Celery can be left in the row where it is growing and banked with dirt. This will protect it until about the middle of October, then cover the top with leaves and boards and it can be held until late November. To have celery keep well, it should not be overgrown.

Q—Is lime the only material that can be used to correct soil acidity? When is the best time to apply lime?

A—For all practical purposes lime is the best material to correct soil acidity. Other elements such as sodium, magnesium and potash also help. These elements are found in combination with the commercial fertilizers and limestone. For best results lime should be applied to soil while it is being prepared and worked in thoroughly. Liming the surface has little value.

Q—How can I store left-over fertilizer for next year?

A—Store in a dry place on boards or racks. Chemical salts in fertilizer will take moisture from the air and cake up, but this does not do much harm.

Sioux Warriors In Victory Dance

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Sept. 14 (INS)—Servicemen of the Sioux Indian Nation poured into South Dakota as Chief Henry Standing Bear and 3000 members of the tribe opened the age-old Sioux victory dance, by which the Indians salute victory over Japan.

First of the tribe's war heroes to arrive for the ritual was Pvt. Francis Menard, holder of three Battle Stars and the Purple Heart.

Chief Daniel Black Horse and Chief Mike Good Land were among members of the greeting committee.

The Sioux will officially be at war with Japan until the completion of the three-day victory celebration.

'The True Glory,' War Epic, Highlights Met Film Fare

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

One of the finest double bills offered in a first-run theater in many moons is currently to be found at the Met, where "The True Glory," probably the best documentary film on the war, is paired with "Junior Miss," a truly delightful film comedy.

"The True Glory" is the complete story of the war on the Western European front, seen through the eyes of the people who took part in it and told in their words. Great credit is due to the Anglo-American Army and Navy officers who planned it, to English director Carol Reed and Capt. Garson Kanin, who directed it, and particularly to the combat cameramen who made this unprecedented chronicle of a war.

Every foot of film used in it is factual. No scenes were staged, re-staged or laid on. Every bit of it is our war, the actors our own boys, the commentators privates and generals, prisoners, guerrillas and nurses.

It is engrossing from start to finish, and so well put together that any school child can follow the progress of the battle for victory from start to finish. Everyone should see it, and it is to be hoped that every school child in America will have the opportunity.

"Junior Miss," made from the successful play concerning the problems and projects of 13-year-old Judy Graves, is cast, acted and directed excellently. It is even funnier on the screen than on the stage, and Peggy Ann Garner as Judy is perfect.

Allyn Joslyn portrays Judy's patient parent with nice restraint, and Sylvia Field is fine as Mrs. Graves.

Barbara Whiting as the irrepressible Fuffy, the neighbor's demon child, and Mona Freeman as Lois, the belle of the family, rate high commendation. Michael Dunne scores as Uncle Willis, for whom Judy makes a match with Faye Marlowe.

Either picture would be a "best bet" on a screen playbill, but both together make the Met a must this week.

Van's Week At Loew's

For a number of reasons," Thrill of a Romance" can be counted upon to break box office records at Loew's State and Orpheum theaters, where it opened yesterday. Notwithstanding this prediction, this reporter found it a big, beautiful bore.

The picture has all the ingredients for success, the most powerful of all, of course, being Van Johnson. This personable, freckled young man has such an effect on otherwise normal females that the film need have nothing else. But this one has much more.

It has Lauritz Melchior, the lovable Metropolitan Opera star, for instance. Melchior sings, again and again, and gloriously. Moreover, his acting is wonderful. His sublimely sweet nature shines through, even when he has to do things which a less eminent person would reject as undignified. He lends a kind of dignity even to a silly situation.

The picture also has some of the most beautiful technicolor scenery you have ever seen. It has in addition Esther Williams, who is as beautiful out of the water as she is in it, and who is also an actress of considerable ability.

Esther is seen as the niece of an incredible but amusing couple portrayed by Henry Travers and Spring Byington. A young business tycoon falls in love with the girl at first sight, courts her hourly with flowers, jewels and squab under glass, marries her and then leaves her on their honeymoon to keep a business date in Washington.

The unkissed bride meets Van Johnson, and Melchior, who is suffering agonies of hunger because he is reducing, acts as Cupid for the girl and Van, the latter a Pacific hero flier convalescing in high style. Melchior bursts into song on every kind of occasion, despite his unhappiness. M. X. S.

'A Bell for Adano' Hit at Boston

By PEGGY DOYLE

"A Bell for Adano," interesting film version of John Hersey's Pulitzer winning best-seller, and a five-star stage show make up one of the most arresting bills the RKO-Boston Theater has presented in years.

John Hodiak, a name that spells come-hither on a marquee, has been assigned to the Italian-American major role created by Fredric March in the stage interpretation. Gene Tierney, who plays the fisherman's blonde daughter, and William Bendix, as hard-boiled Major Joppolo's orderly, also add to the starry quality of this week's bill.

Hersey's point that understanding of and sympathy for a conquered people's traditions are as much a concern of the Allied Military Government as is their physical welfare has been honestly retained in the film, as it was in the Broadway drama.

The episodic quality tends to slow the film in the middle but the many inspiring sequences lift it into brilliance again and again. Notable are the opening scenes, as the American forces take over the town while the natives cautiously return to watch; the attempted lynching of the former Fascist mayor in the public square.

Hodiak does well by the difficult Joppolo characterization. Miss Tierney's blonde from Brooklyn has grace if not the gentleness suggested. Bendix, however, genuinely distinguishes himself with the most convincing portrayal of the three.

In addition to an outstanding new picture, the K-Boston presents a stage show which had the customers cheering yesterday. Opening with an excellent dance team, Terry Franks and Janyce, it goes on to Tommy Dix, the war veteran who looks like a high school boy and sings like a 250-pound opera star.

Then there is "Think-a-Drink Hoffman," the amazing magician who produces out of what is apparently plain water any drink from champagne to coffee, all in plain view and all drinkable. As if they weren't enough headliners for one show, this one also has the wonderful Murtagh Sisters, whose satire is out of this world, and Professor Lamberti, whose act must be seen to be appreciated.

Leaves Shoe Fund To Benefit Actors

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 14 (AP)—A one-time Shakesperian actor, who remembered until death the days when his courage kept sinking as his soles grew thinner on the long hunts for jobs, has left funds in his will to provide shoes to keep other actors off their uppers.

Conrad Cantzen left his residuary estate for the shoe fund to benefit actors even if not paid-up members of Equity.

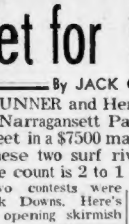
Lady Gunner, Here's How All Set for Match Race

By JACK CONWAY

LADY GUNNER and Here's How will give a splash of class to the Narragansett Park card tomorrow afternoon when they meet in a $7500 match race over the six furlongs distance. These two surf rivals have already met three times, and the count is 2 to 1 in favor of Here's How.

The first two contests were held at Suffolk Downs. Here's How won the opening skirmish only to be beaten by Lady Gunner in the second test. At Narragansett Park on last Saturday Here's How won over Lady Gunner in a photo finish with Jockey Breen insisting his mount had been carried wide at the head of the stretch. Jockey Pratt denied any interference and Stewards Norman Charlton, John Turner and Hap Fenelon upheld his contention.



Lady Gunner

Despite the fact Here's How has the edge in victories, I look for Lady Gunner to go to the post a favorite.

Lady Gunner has shown enough class to cause the bettors to believe that she has a good chance to even up her score with Here's How.

I have not asked Dave Wilson, champion handicapper, which he likes in the match race. Dave was one of the few handicappers who picked Here's How to win from Lady Gunner last Saturday. Dave will give his selections exclusively in the Green Sports Special of tomorrow's Boston American. Wilson has the habit of coming up with the winner of handicap and stake races and also of match races.

★ ★ ★

Other Match Races

ONE OF THE most important match races ever held was the one between Man O' War and Sir Barton which was won by the former.

Here's How

New England has had three previous match races. Alsab won over Whirlaway at Narragansett Park. Rough Time conquered Appealing at Suffolk Downs, while Sweet Willow proved too speedy for Wise Moss at Rockingham Park.

I expect the meeting between Lady Gunner and Here's How to be as thrilling as any of these previous races between outstanding thoroughbreds.

Races like the one Judge James E. Dooley and Racing Secretary Ty Shea have arranged for tomorrow do much for horse racing. They cause people to discuss the merits of great horses and for the time at least forget the wagering end of horse racing. In Maryland and in Kentucky one always finds many heated discussions over the merits of different horses and not so much talk about big payoffs in daily doubles and in other races.

Forte Suffered Injuries

BILLY AMES, manager of Ernie Forte, writes as follows:

"Apropos of the Ernie Forte-Freddie Cabral bout at the Mechanics Building last Monday night, X-ray examinations have now revealed Forte is suffering from torn ligaments on three ribs on the left side. Bobby Goldman and Frank Travis, who seconded Forte, tell me the boy returned to his corner after the very first round complaining of a severe pain in his side—so it is safe to assume the injury became greatly aggravated as the bout wore on. The injury was not only very painful and crippling, but interfered greatly with the lad's breathing.

"This is not an alibi, nor to detract from the merit of Cabral's victory after being nearly knocked out in the first round. But in justice to a lad whose superb courage alone enabled him to go as far as he did, the facts should be made known. Forte will not resume training for another month at least."

3 Tiger Stars On Injured List

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14 (AP)—There scarcely is a chance that the Detroit Tigers will be able to use either Hank Greenberg, their slugging outfielder, or Eddie Mayo, their sparkplug second baseman, in the crucial five-game series opening Saturday in Washington.

The American League leaders, in consequence, are not a happy lot, though Mgr. Steve O'Neill is refraining studiously from crying out loud. Facing five games in three cramped days with the Senators, the team he has to beat for the flag, O'Neill simply is reduced to hoping for the best.

"It's tough," he admitted, "trying to win with your top men out. If Mayo hadn't hurt his shoulder we would have been way out in front now. It's not only Eddie's great playing. He's been an inspiration to the others with his hustle and talk."

Mayo's left shoulder still pains him when he tries to swing a bat. He's in uniform, but admits it's doubtful he will be ready by the week-end. Greenberg also suited up yesterday and limped about for a time in pre-game practice, but said his left ankle still felt very stiff. "Guess I'll be ready for the World Series," he grinned philosophically.

"I'll sure use either or both of them against Washington if I can," said ONeill, "but I don't think there's much chance. We'll need all the help we can get against that Washington pitching. Griff's got five mighty good pitchers."

The case of Hal Newhouser, Detroit's top pitcher, has everybody guessing. Just when the Tigers need him most, Hal is complaining of a "lump" under his left, or pitching, shoulder blade. He warmed up briefly yesterday and returned to the dugout looking gloomy.

"I don't know," he said. "Steve wants me to open against Washington Saturday, and I will if I can."

While the Tigers fully realize the importance of the Senator series, they are not convinced that their pennant chances hinge on it. They point out that Washington, while apparently very close to them in the standing, actually is a lot worse off in the matter of games lost. That, they say, is where it counts. Also, they like the fact that they have three more games left to play than the Senators.

"If we stay even close up there, we'll be O. K.," one Tiger insisted. "We'll probably have our strength back the last couple of weeks, and that's all we need to win it."

Nats Fight Each Other But Keep on Winning

Clark Griffith's steamed-up Senators, one big happy family like a cageful of strange wildcats, are only half a game back of the leading Detroit Tigers today, according to the Associated Press. They have 10 victories in their last 13 games and a brand new hurling star, Walter Masterson; fresh from three years in the Navy.

They also have a big, fat case of stretch-drive nerves.

Pitchers Marino Pieretti and Venezuelan Alex Carrasquel are no longer amigos. They had a clubhouse fight last night over ownership of a pet bat.

Second Baseman Fred Vaughn and Manager Ossie Bluege are cooling off from a run-in Tuesday which cost Vaughn a $100 fine.

And nobody is happy about the back-breaking string of double-headers Griffith scheduled so he could finish the season a week early—and turn the Stadium over to the Washington Redskins pro football team.

Nevertheless, the Senators went out last night and scored a hustling 4-to-0 victory over Bob Feller and Cleveland back of Walter Masterson's two-hitter.

Bluege will send Carrasquel out tonight to try to sweep the three-game Cleveland series. That leaves Mickey Haefner, Dutch Leonard, Roger Wolff, Pieretti and John Niggeling ready for the five-game showdown with Detroit here tomorrow, Sunday and Monday.

Carrasquel was cut over the left eye in last night's bout with Pieretti, but he got even—he broke the bat they were arguing about over a locker.

In the fracas Tuesday Bluege tangled with Vaughn over a misplay which let the Chicago White Sox beat Washington, 2 to 1. Upshot of that was a $100 fine for Vaughan, and Owner Griffith had to talk him out of quitting the team.

Detroit dropped a full game off its lead when Jim Tobin blew up in the ninth inning, yielded three hits and two walks and bowed to Philadelphia, 3-2.

Hank Greenberg and Eddie Mayo worked out with the Tigers but still were sidelined.

Hard luck Bill Zuber of the Yanks ran into his seventh goose-egg treatment of the season, bowing to Chicago, 7-0, strangely enough in 10 innings. "Zinker Ball" Zuber had allowed only one hit in the full nine innings but was clubbed to the showers in the overtime spurt, during which Guy Curtright collected two doubles.

St. Louis regained third place from the Yanks by shading the Red Sox, 2-1.

Pittsburgh made seven hits good for a double decision over the Braves, 4-3 and 2-0, advancing to within two percentage points of the idle Dodgers in third place.

The Giants dropped their sixth successive game by one run, 3-2, to Cincinnati.

Rain halted the thrilling National pennant race, washing out a single Philadelphia at Chicago afternoon tilt and a two-night double-header between the Dodgers and Cardinals at St. Louis.

Jockey Injured in Gansett First

NARRAGANSETT PARK, R. I.—Misfortune struck again in the first race at Narragansett Park this afternoon when, for the second time this week, a spill occurred. Today it was Jockey J. R. School Football Comes Rushing In

It's surprising how suddenly the football season can pop up . . . tonight, the schoolboys will jump the entire field with floodlight games . . . then, there'll be a few scattered contests over the week-end . . . highlighted by the Medford-Arlington clash tomorrow afternoon . . . and the 10-team Jamboree on the South Shore starting at 2 p. m. at Abington High School's home field.

This preview will be but a whisper in comparison to the roar scheduled for next Saturday, Sept. 22, when practically every suburban eleven will open their fall programs.

There'll be two headliners playing under the moon tonight . . . Malden's Golden Tornado, once again a threat to the state title, will swing into its first contest for the second year in a row against Buzz Harvey's Nashua, N. H., outfit . . . Nashua has 11 men returning, including last year's backfield, Costas Rodies at quarterback, Hank La Belle left half, Earl McKeown right half, and Ed Dobrowolski at fullback . . . at the luxurious Manning Bowl, Lynn, Coach Bill Joyce's Classical team will play host to smaller Winthrop in a resumption of a rivalry that had been dormant since the old North Shore League was abandoned.

At Gillis Stadium, Medford, tomorrow at 2:30, fans might very well get a peek at a new champion in Coach Henry Toczylowski's Arlington team . . . but Coach Eddie Pidgeon is confident that if his Mustangs win this one, they'll be roaring on their way . . . it's too bad that these prospective titlists are meeting so early in the season.

Arlington will be using the modified T that Frank Leahy used at Boston College . . . this will have George Faulkner, co-captain and a passer with Dave Ferriss' control, working out of the left-halfback berth (Charlie O'Rourke style) instead of the usual quarterback slot . . . the qb ball-handling assignment will be filled by 130-pound Dick Raia . . . watch for a pair of slick, pass-receiving ends in Bill Coveney and Charlie Kent . . . they've been learning all the tricks from the old master at Holy Cross, ass't coach Jim Cavalieri.

The first South Shore carnival, adopted along the same patterns as the Manning Bowl jamboree that drew over 18,000 last week, should be an attractive card . . . pairings and order of games list: Hanover vs. Plymouth; Quincy (and this team may be loaded with dynamite by Coach Danny Alvino) vs. Abington; North Quincy vs. Brockton; Milton vs. New Bedford and Randolph vs. Hingham . . . all games will be of 15 minute duration with 2 minute halves.

Another crackerjack contest will find Coach Jack Heaphy's Dedham team moving to Malden Catholic's stadium tomorrow . . . Dedham is stripped of veteran material. MIKE GILLOOLY.

Winthrop Forward Line Needs Power

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Everybody likes to get something new. At Winthrop High School's Miller Field, Coach Gordie Connors has a new field-house; the fences and stands have been newly painted and newly renovated. As a matter of fact, Winthrop will open its schedule tonight with a new opponent, Lynn Classical at Manning Bowl.

But the point that's bothering Coach Connors is the fact that he'll be throwing practically a brand new line at the Class A opposition in a resumption of an old North Shore League feud.

And you can take Coach Connors' word for it, that the Winthrop frontier on the gridiron will be its stumbling block this season. It's still quite possible that the forward wall will develop into a block of granite as the season progresses but at the present time, Coach Connors holds little hope of stemming the tide of smashing, pile-driving opposition.

The line will have two veterans back, co-Capt. Ira Rubin, 160-pound running guard, and Jim Ambrose, 163-pound tackle. But after that, Coach Connors will have to consult his ouija board to come up with his starters for this floodlight opener.

That's just why he now has four candidates listed for the tackle opposite Ambrose and they'll probably all see service. Or possibly the end situation would offer a more interesting tussle of hopefuls with only Sherman Reed, 185 pounds, and Henry Wilson, 155, alternating on this wing. But that tackle berth is puzzling. Hal Miller, 195-pound sub last year, Don Buchanan, 190, who was sick last fall, Marshall Sager, 168, and Ed Ruskin, 160, are all very much in the running.

Ruskin, incidentally, in spite of the fact that he's only 15 years old, has had quite a busy year. He left school last spring, cooked up an age that would allow him to join the Merchant Marine and off he went to the wars in Europe and France. They caught up with his tender 15 years and advised him to go back to school. He did and he's moved up from the JV team to try out for the varsity.

Just as soon as this tackle and end post are settled, the winners will take their places with Teddy Fahyan, 5.6 inch, 136-pound watch-charm guard; Dick Spencer, sub center last year who has moved up to first string, and Bob Kelly, basketball star from the JV who was converted from a halfback to the other end.

They'll hold out until Herb Proctor, center; Jack Weiner, center; Allan Law, guard; Bob Sammartino, guard, and ends John Carroll, Marshall Haradon and Bob Wickwire press them even more.

The backfield will be strong and versatile. Co-captain Jack Talcott, a passer, kicker and clever runner, will be a full. Milton Neal, tricky broken field runner, will be at left half with Buddy Johnson at right half. Johnson, a southpaw passer and kicker, was idled by a broken collar bone last season. Dave Rowe will be calling signals.

For back replacements, Coach Connors will have a clever sophomore in Frank Covino; Ken French; Harold White, 185-pounder who was injured last year but an operation, performed this summer, may allow him to play again, Leonard Goldstein, Dick Evans, Paul Millerich, a sophomore, and Myron Atlas, captain-elect of basketball.

The Winthrop schedule, after Classical tonight, lists at Marblehead, Sept. 22; at Danvers, Sept. 29; Amesbury, Oct. 6; Winchester, Oct. 12; at Swampscott, Oct. 20; Woburn, Oct. 27; Beverly, Nov. 3; at Melrose, Nov. 10, and Revere Thanksgiving Day.

Tufts Opens N. E. Grid Campaign

Lew Manley, starting his 15th season as head coach of football at Tufts, sends a potentially strong eleven against the New London Coast Guard Academy tomorrow afternoon at Tufts Oval.

The game marks the opening of the New England college grid campaign and despite the early date shapes up as a thriller.

Tufts has a good nucleus of men back from last year's squad, and with their aid hopes to halt Tommy Dorsey, who had a field day against the Jumbos last year. Tufts' seasoned performers include guard John Hendrickson, end Bill Rohrs, guard Maynard Brucker, backs Bill Irwin, George Feldman, Jim McNeill and Bob Beers, linemen Guy Owens and Bill Hartman, and Paul Brumhart, end at Bates last fall.

Three six-round bouts complete the card. Ken Conley of South Boston, youngest member of a boxing family, faces George Purdham of Cambridge. Conley is a boxing stylist whose big asset is an effective left hand.

Johnny Priest of Cambridge duels Al Smith of Scranton, and Frank Parrimore of Squantum tests the so-called Blond Tiger of Lowell, in other sixes.

Joe DiMaggio Discharged

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Sept. 14 (AP)—S-Sgt. Joe DiMaggio, the former New York Yankee outfield star, was discharged from the Army today.

He received a medical discharge because of stomach ulcers, for which he was hospitalized here several weeks ago after tours of duty in the Pacific theater and on the Pacific coast and at Atlantic City, N. J.

DiMaggio has indicated he would not rejoin the Yankees until next season. DiMaggio likely will go to New York from here to confer with Yankee officials before going to his home in San Francisco.

Bataan Hero Freed—Staring pointedly at his ex-prison guard, Sgt. Samuel Moody of Boston, captured by Japs in the fall of Bataan, wishes he could deal with him personally. The guard, Toyama, was nicknamed "Snag" because of his cruelty. They parted at the Araie railway station where the U. S. Navy picked Moody up for return to America. AP Wirephoto

Reserve Backs

Certain to be seen in action this year are reserve backs Paul Millerick, Myron Atlas, Ken French and Dick Evans, who have shown great improvement during preseason practice at Winthrop.

How It's Done

Winthrop's coach, Gordon Connors (center) shows linesmen the proper way to hit a tackle dummy during the final workout before tonight's game against Lynn Classical in Lynn.
